We are truly pleased to announce the holding of this collaborative exhibition with our six partner institutes, taking advantage of this special opportunity at Setouchi Triennale 2013.

For this exhibition, seven very unique art institutes with various cultural and historical backgrounds got together to exhibit art works with their very own “colors.” The unique colors of each of the seven institutes accentuate their own presence and also have a positive influence on the others. And somehow it has resulted in the unexpected harmony of all of the colors. The title of this exhibition is “NANAIRO” which means seven colors in Japanese. It also means beautiful colors like a rainbow. We hope that at this International Exhibition “NANAIRO” you will feel the magic of “NANAIRO,” which one “color” (institute) would never be able to create by itself.
